The purpose of this Cookies Policy (the "Policy") is to define the Company's standards with respect to the cookies stored on our operating domain, www.atomiqmarkets.com.

2. LEGAL & REGULATORY FRAMEWORK

This Policy is established in accordance with, and taking into consideration, the following legislative and regulatory framework applicable in Mauritius:

- Financial Services Act 2007, including provisions relating to fair dealing, conduct of business, and keeping;
- Data Protection Act (DPA) 2017

3. GUIDING PRINCIPLES OF THE POLICY

3.1. Defining what are "Cookies":

Cookies are small pieces of text stored on users computer when visiting a website or a mobile app. They are not programs and cannot be executed as code or deliver viruses. Instead, they act more like a "passport", which the site checks and updates whenever you visit.

Most websites that a user visits will use cookies to improve the user's experience. Their functions include verifying the users identity for security purposes, determining the type of browser and settings are being used or allowed to the site owners and third-party advertisers to tailor content to the users preferences.

Cookies are managed by the user's browser. Each cookie is unique and contains some anonymous information such as a unique identifier, site name, digits and letters. It allows a website to remember browsing preferences of the user.

3.2. Types of Cookies:

As with many things, cookies types vary according to their purpose.

3.2.1. Duration:

(a) Session: A session cookie is essential to ensure the correct functioning of the Website and is used to manage registration/login and access to reserved features. Session cookies are stored temporarily during a browsing session and are deleted from the user's device when the browser is closed.

(b) Persistent: Persistent cookies are saved on your computer for a fixed period (usually a year or longer) and are not deleted when the browser is closed (unless deleted by the user before the expiry date).

3.2.2. Origin:

(a) First-Party Cookies: Cookies set by the website owner or service provider, by Us in this case, are called "first-party cookies", and that site can only read them. Cookies set by parties other than the website owner are called "third-party cookies".

(b) Third-Party Cookies: Third-party cookies enable third-party features or functionality to be provided on or through the website or service you are using (such as advertising, interactive content and analytics). The third parties that set these third-party cookies can recognise your computer both when it visits the website or service in question and also when it visits certain other websites or services.

3.2.3. Consent:

On the basis of the GDPR and the Privacy regulatory framework, cookies can be divided between two (2) main categories:

- necessary cookies (essential and performance), which do not require user's consent and
- preference cookies (functionality and targeted/advertising), which do require a user's consent.

You give your consent when you select "Accept all cookies" on the pop-up that will appear whenever you use the Website.

Just so you know, you can always choose which cookies you allow the website owner to use, apart from essential and performance cookies, which can't be turned off. If you change your mind and want to withdraw your consent, you can do so at any time, just select the cookies you want to accept on the pop-up or via your internet browser. You can read more about this in our "change cookies section below".

Segregating cookies further based on "consent" we have the following:

(a) Essential Cookies: Essential (also known as "strictly necessary") cookies are cookies that are needed to provide an online service at someone's request. All cookies used by our mobile apps are session cookies (i.e. essential cookies). Such cookies do not require consent as these are essential for providing the service that the user asks for.

(b) Performance Cookies: Performance (also known as "necessary functional") cookies collect analytical information on how you use the website, such as page visits and page load speed.

Performance cookies do not allow you to be identified, as they are anonymised. As such, performance cookies do not require your consent.

(c) Functionality Cookies: These cookies allow our Website to remember visitors' choices, such as username and language, and provide enhanced, personalised results. These cookies generally require consent.

(d) Targeted or Advertising Cookies: These cookies are used to deliver adverts that are more relevant to the user as they are based on their interests. They can be set even if the site itself does not display advertising. These cookies often are third-party cookies. Such cookies always require consent.

Furthermore, as part of our marketing and optimization model, we use Google Analytics and other Google services such as Google Tag Manager to analyse the use of our Website. Google Analytics generate statistical and other information about website use by means of cookies on users' computers.
